Karr Ordered to Show Feb. 14 Senate Minutes

By John Epperheimer

Two Student Senators and a student government office secretary have charged Senate chairman Richard Karr with altering the content of Senate minutes.

Senator Jerry Finney claims that Karr deleted parts of minutes of the meeting of Feb. 14 that contained debate critical of him. He is supported by Senator Jerry Paluch and secretary Rhonda Stearns.

Karr was not at the student government office all day Tuesday and could not be reached by phone for comment.

At a special Senate meeting Monday, Karr was mandated to produce minutes of the Feb. 14 meeting by tonight's regular meeting.

At that Feb. 14 meeting, several Senators were critical of Karr for adjourning a previous meeting before the Rev. William Sloane Coffin arrived to speak.

Coffin, chaplain at Yale and a critic of the Vietnam war, spoke to a group of Senators after the adjournment. Karr's critics charged that Coffin should have been allowed to appear before a formal Senate meeting.

No Students Quit School, Gerler Says

William Gerler, director of the Counseling and Testing Office, said that no black students withdrew from the University Tuesday although 22 withdrawal slips have been picked up in the past two days.

Gerler said that 17 Negro students were given withdrawal slips from his office Monday and an additional five slips were given out Tuesday.

Wilbur Moulton, dean of students, said that his office has not received any letters from black students requesting to withdraw from the University.

A petition is currently circulating demanding the resignations of both President Delyte W. Morris and Thomas Leffler, chief of the SIU Security Police and the entire police force.

The petition states that the University administration acted irresponsibly in handling the demonstration May 8. It also charged that the campus police force is "not qualified to properly function as a law enforcement agency

High Rise Dorms Given New Names

A new high rise student residence complex named after the founder of Carbondale will be dedicated in public ceremonies June 7, Commencement Day at SIU.

The Brush Towers residence area, a $12 million revenue bond project, includes two 17-story dormitory buildings and a dining-social center. The individual towers, one for 816 women and the other for the same number of male students, have been named Mae Trovillion Smith Tower and William B. Schneider Tower, after two deceased members of the SIU English department faculty. The commons building is named John E. Grinnell Hall, former SIU vice president for academic affairs.

Daniel H. Brush, commander of a Carbondale volunteer company in the Civil War, founded the town under an agreement with the Illinois Central Railroad. It was chartered in 1856.

The new towers, scheduled for occupancy in the summer term, are identical to Neely Hall in the adjoining University Park residence area. It was finished in 1965 and houses 816 undergraduate women.

Dedication ceremonies will be at 11 a.m. in Grinnell Hall. Kenneth Davis, chairman of the SIU board of trustees, has been invited to make comments and Wilbur Moulton, dean of students, will be master of ceremonies. After a ribbon-cutting ceremony, invited guests will attend a luncheon at Grinnell Hall, with Robert MacVicar, vice president for academic affairs, serving as master of ceremonies.

Applicants Needed

Scholarships Still Available

Students wishing to receive Illinois State Grants are being given a second opportunity to submit applications, as the Illinois State Grant Program has extended its deadline for applications to July 1.

Prior to this re-opening, the Illinois State Scholarship Commission has never extended such a program, said Charles Gray, assistant coordinator of scholarships at SIU.

As of the earlier deadline date, Feb. 1, over 1,200 people had been notified that they were being considered as grant recipients. By extending the application submission date, it is hoped that over 800 more people will be eligible for consideration, said Gray. Fewer than 300 grants were made last year at SIU due to the early deadline for applications.

The Illinois State Scholarship Commission is announcing this week grant recipients for 1968-69 are receiving $11 million. However, because of attrition during the school year, the actual investment may be reduced to less than $10.5 million. The Commission, therefore, feels that another 3,000 eligible applicants will be needed to allow an actual investment of $10.5 million.

Eligibility requirements for a grant are: U.S. citizen, resident of Illinois, in good standing with the University by fall quarter, 1968, submit the necessary application forms to the Commission by July 1, 1968, and show financial need as determined by the Commission.

The grants apply to tuition and mandatory fees at SIU and other approved colleges and universities in Illinois. They are given only to full-time undergraduate students and are renewable annually with the proper application.

Applications may be obtained at the Student Work and Financial Office in Building B at Washington Square, through high school counselors, or by writing to the Illinois State Scholarship Commission.

In the event that the number of qualified applicants is greater than the available funds, applications will be considered by the Commission on the basis of parents' contribution. Thus, those most in need of the grant will be given first priority.

Weather permitting, open air studying seems to be in style as some SIU students prepare early for exam week June 3-8. Carbondale Plans 'Clean-Up Day' To Celebrate Beautification Month

The city of Carbondale will hold a "City Clean-Up Day" Saturday to celebrate the governor's proclamation of May as "Keep Illinois Beautiful Month." The cleanup day will be held in cooperation with the Carbondale Council of Garden Clubs.

City Manager William Norman said that city trucks and drivers will be provided for every area of the city to collect all materials placed at the curbs along the streets by residents. SIU students will assist in loading materials on trucks.

Citizens are urged to clean up yards, basements, attics and garages and take advantage of this opportunity to improve the appearance of property.

Arrangements have been made to provide free towing service to remove inoperable motor vehicles which have become an increasing problem in the city, according to Norman.

Norman pointed out that elderly or handicapped persons can make arrangements with the city to have items removed from their homes. Arrangements must be made prior to clean-up day by telephoning city hall at 549-5302.

The city's cost for labor and equipment for this one-day drive will be in excess of $500, not including volunteers, according to Norman. Norman urges that every resident help make the clean-up campaign a success.

Fair Housing Complaint Filed Against Imperial West Dorm

Roger C. Fortune, a junior from Brooklyn, N.Y., has filed the first formal complaint under Carbondale's 1967 fair housing ordinance against the owners and manager of Imperial West Dormitory, 404 S. Graham St.

In his complaint, Fortune says that he and another student, Richard Wallace, both inquired on May 1 about renting a room for the Fall and Summer quarters.

Fortune, a Negro, says that he was told there was no space. Later Wallace, white, was told that rooms were available.

A copy of Fortune's complaint has been sent to all persons involved and a hearing has been set by the fair housing board for June 3 to attempt a conciliatory agreement.

The complaint formally charges Carl Alexander, manager of Imperial West, and Jerome A. Robinson and Associates, Inc. of Springfield, identified as the owner of the dormitory, with discriminatory housing policies.

Jerry Lacey, chairman of the fair housing board, said Robinson told him that Alexander had quit as the dormitory manager since the incident.

Steering Group Applications Ready For Homecoming

Applications for membership on Homecoming steering committee are available at the distribution center in the University Center. Don Kapral, student body vice-president-elect for activities, says the deadline for filing these applications is Friday.

Kapral said the purpose of the steering committee is to organize and direct activities associated with Homecoming.

Kapral hopes Homecoming will be expanded to the size of the Spring Festival. Should this happen, he said, greater student participation and an increased number of subcommittees would be needed.

Integrate Training In Mental Health

The number of general hospitals offering treatment to the mentally ill has increased by 39 per cent since 1964. Even so, the need for greater coordination between hospitals and psychiatric treatment training centers is imperative if our hospitals are to be staffed by the most competent doctors.

Announcement of a recent survey made by the National Institute of Mental Health reveals that nearly 600,000 psychiatric patients were treated and released from general hospitals during 1965. In 1967, 144 hospitals offered psychiatric treatment in both separate and general wards, and 705 general hospitals were reported to have out-patient treatment programs.

We have the federal government to thank for much of this increase in the treatment of mental illness in our nation's hospitals. Due to the 1963 Community Health Centers Act and subsequent amendments, hospitals have been made eligible for grant-in-aid staffing and construction funds. In addition, the statute gives special priority to general hospitals—as potential sponsors of community health centers—requiring only that services provide for both comprehensive care and treatment of the mentally ill.

But even though the United States has led the world in psychiatric training and research for over 30 years, an integration of training programs could improve the quality of our nation's practitioners. Most of the present training occurs in university departments of psychiatry. Some teaching hospitals do, however, offer psychiatric training residency programs. The problem is that these programs are mostly experimental, and differ greatly from hospital to hospital.

There simply is not enough coordination existing between psychiatric residency programs and psychoanalytic institutes. A student of psychiatry who wants to study psychoanalysis is often forced to divide himself between two institutions. The expanding mental health facilities among our nation's hospitals demand the most comprehensively trained physicians available. A greater integration of training techniques will help supply such personnel.

Would Die for Marines

To the Daily Egyptian:

I am a Marine Officer Candidate. This summer I will conclude my training towards a commission in the United States Marine Corps. I then plan on making the Corps my career. I need no sit-ins, or hand-bills to further my ideas.

The articles of my beliefs are in Sipan, Iwo Jima, Korea, and Hill 831. Each Marine grave is a silent tribute to a man who may not have supported the policies of his government but was willing to die for his faith in his country. I have pride enough in my ideas to keep myself above the disputes of the peace agitators. If I stooped to argue, I would insult the graves of countless Marines by exposing our honor and patriotism to a group which has neither.

I believe in the Corps enough to die for it. If these beliefs came under attack, I would accept arrest and expulsion rather than expose my convictions to the dishonor of whining about my rights. I have no rights, except those which I earn by supporting my country's laws. I respect the Corps enough to educate myself to the best of my ability in college.

Therefore, I do not condone actions which may jeopardize this education. I do not impose the tenets of my code upon my fellow students. My convictions need no outside support, because my ideas are not for sale. I respect peace, but not a milk-sop peace held by adolescents and based on treason and vacillation to the enemies of my country.

I know that before such ideas become dominant, I would have died fighting for the rights of those who hold such ideas. Death would be welcome, because I would have no wish to live in such a world.

Publish Cost Of Campaigns

To the Daily Egyptian:

Since two of the losing candidates in Wednesday's election indicated in interviews published in the Egyptian that they felt the financing of the IMPACT party was a factor in the results of the election, I suggest that all candidates publish a statement of campaign expenditures, including the source of their funds; perhaps the Egyptian would be good enough to donate the space for such listings.

If the amounts of expenditures are roughly equal for all candidates, then we can conclude that the quality of the candidates, and not their financing, determined the outcome of the election. If this equality is not true, then we can conclude that IMPACT got what it paid for.

Form Campaign Expense Rules

To the Daily Egyptian:

Because of a particularly intense and exciting election campaign for the student body presidency, one area of improvement in election procedures and regulations became quite obvious. There is an urgent need for restrictions on the financial output of the various candidates for executive positions during the campaign. In a country already threatened with the possibility that a "poor man" can no longer become president due to the prohibitive election costs, SIU needs to guard against this potential danger.

The recent election was characterized by smooth, sophisticated campaign methods ranging from privately printed campaign posters to dances in support of various candidates. This type of electioneering is fine as long as issues and platforms remain the major concern of the voters. If the issues are overshadowed by political acumen in the art of voter saturation, then the entire structure for electing able and qualified student leaders is in danger. Therefore, financial restrictions need to be placed on the candidates for executive office.

An impartial board, composed of students outside of elected student government as well as representatives from student government, needs to be formed. This board should have the power to set up guidelines for student campaigning as well as the power to establish an arbitrary limit on campaign spending by individual candidates or parties. Each candidate or slate of candidates for executive positions should be required to file a report of campaign expenses to this board. In this manner, student government will remain open to all potential candidates despite the rigors and expenses of political campaigning.

The Student Senate needs to take some positive steps in the formation of a Campaign Rules and Expense Board. If this board is formed fairly soon, the members will have ample time to formulate and establish impartial rules concerning campaign expenses before the next major student election.

Public Forum

The Daily Egyptian encourages free discussion of current issues through editorials and letters. Editorials are written by members of the student news staff and by students enrolled in journalism courses and represent opinions of the authors only. Readers are invited to express their opinions in letters, which must be signed with name, address and telephone number, preferably typewritten, and be no longer than 250 words. Letter writers should respect the generally accepted standards of good taste and are urged to make their points in terms of issues rather than personalities. Acceptance for publication will depend upon the limitations of space and the timeliness and relevance of the material. It is the responsibility of the Daily Egyptian to determine content of the opinion pages. Other material on pages four and five includes editorials and articles reprinted from other newspapers, syndicated columns and articles, and interpretive or opinion articles authored locally.

Behind Administrations' Decision

To the Daily Egyptian:

I am a 1967 graduate of SIU serving in Vietnam. I recently read in the "Pacific Stars & Stripes" of the protest at President Morris' office concerning the refusal of the University to invite Carmichael to the campus.

In the past, I have disagreed with many actions of the University, such as car and housing policies and the use of the upper floors of the Student Center (which is used for everything from a storage area for the University Press to the advisement and sectioning center). I didn't trespass or disrupt campus activity to show my displeasure though.

University when it refused to have Carmichael on the campus, for several reasons.

A rabble-rouser like Carmichael should not be permitted on campus just because a small, but vocally far out of proportion minority of students wants him around. He does not believe in law and order and in fact wants violence wherever he goes. I don't want to see a burned out campus.

Also, the University should do its part to join in a news blackout of violent people like Rap Brown and Carmichael. Deny them publicity and let law and order prevail!

An Editor's Outlook

Paradise by Court Order

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones
General Features Corp.

When 80-year-old Hugo Lafayette Black unloaded on his fellow Supreme Court justices during his Columbia law school lectures this spring, he said nothing that hadn't been said with more or less profanity by myriads of lawyers and legislators before him.

But here was a man in the twilight of his years, gone well beyond the need of political favor or personal approbation, who, as he put it, was filled with "fear for our constitutional system." And he tagged his brother justices for the peril.

Said Justice Black:

"Power corrupts, and unrestricted power will tempt Supreme Court justices just as history tells us it has tempted other judges. Given absolute or near absolute power, judges may exercise it to bring about changes that are inimical to freedom and good government...."

"I strongly believe that the basic purpose and plan of the Constitution is that the federal government should have no powers except those that are expressly or impliedly granted and that no department of government—executive, legislative or judicial—has authority to add to or take away the powers granted or denied by the Constitution...."

"I deeply fear for our constitutional system when life-appointed judges can strike down a law passed by Congress or a state legislature with no more justification than that the judges believe the law is 'unreasonable.'"

In recent years, and particularly since the accession of Chief Justice Earl Warren and the appointment of judges more famous for social activism than awe of the law, the court has come to regard itself, not as a protector of rules, but as a creator of them.

The difference is fundamental.

It was 165 years ago when, in the case of Marbury vs. Madison, the court seized the right to strike down federal statutes that appeared to contravene the intent of the Constitution.

It was a reasonable seizure. After all, you wouldn't have much of a constitutional system if Congress could nullify any part of it with a simple vote. Someone had to make subjective judgments of what the Constitution meant, and who better than the highest court?

Until the Warren court came along, when justices split, they generally did so over diverse interpretations of the letter of the law. But the Warren court was characterized by its determination to widen the First, Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments by interpretations that hadn't occurred to previous courts.

The court's defenders have argued that in a rapidly changing society the court is simply keeping up with the needs of the times and that the process of amending the Constitution is so slow that the interest of the people would not be served by waiting for it.

But a process for amending the Constitution does exist. And it would be interesting to see how many state legislatures would approve an amendment that would force employers running sensitive defense plants to hire members of known subversive organizations, or an amendment that would force police to release a confessed rapist if so much as a night intervened between his arrest and arraignment.

Yet the Supreme Court accomplished these wonders by simply interpreting the Constitution in novel and hitherto-unthought-of ways.

Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard put it well a few years ago when he remarked that the trouble with the court was "absolutism." In the court's effort to achieve absolute justice, according to personal beliefs of its majority, the law vanishes and a system of decrees and edicts takes over.

All sincere dictatorships operate on the same theory. "The law is supposed to be good for people. I think this is good for the people. Ergo, this is the law."

There seems to be no logical substitute for the Supreme Court as the last word in the interpretation of the Constitution. But the flippant theory that "the law is what the Supreme Court says it is" must have some limitations if a system of law is to survive.

If the Supreme Court persists in its apparent drive to nullify the Congress as it pleases, and to direct the performance of the Executive Branch, then we no longer have a workable separation of powers. America may be driven to ratifying a series of constitutional amendments so clear in wording and so specific in intent that the court would have to deny the meaning of the English language to override them.

Our system of checks and balances is worth preserving.

What Kind of World?

Unrest of West German Youth

By Robert M. Hutchins
Los Angeles Times

I arrived in West Germany on the day Rudi Dutschke, the student leader, was shot and left three weeks later, the day after the rightist National Democratic Party got 9.8 per cent of the vote in Baden-Wurtemberg.

There was some connection between the two events, for the attack on Dutschke produced student riots and violent clashes with the police all over the country. The National Democratic Party profited by the demand for the repression that is the usual reaction to any disorderly manifestation of discontent.

It is hard for a foreigner to take the result of the election in Baden-Wurtemberg as seriously as the Germans did. Every important politician and every responsible newspaper came out the next day with expressions of alarm. There were many calls for changes in the electoral law that would prevent the National Democrats from getting any seats in the national legislature. There were references to the early days of the Nazis. Whatever their views on other subjects, the Germans do not want another Hitler.

The National Democrats have gained seats in seven out of the 11 state legislatures. Their representatives in these bodies have distinguished themselves by their incompetence and ineffectiveness. The party has no program beyond the restoration of German greatness. Since there is an economic boom going on and all signs point to its continuance, the kind of dissatisfaction Hitler exploited does not exist.

The dissatisfaction that does exist is intense and widespread, but it is of quite a different kind, and it will not help the National Democrats. It is the dissatisfaction of the young with the smugness, inertness and indifference of the affluent society. They are particularly outraged by the lethargic, almost nonpolitical character of West German politics. They see Bonn, that sleepy city on the Rhine, as a place where self-satisfied, self-seeking politicians spend their time in idle conversation about things that are no longer interesting, like anticommunism, German reunification and the promotion of industry.

The so-called "Grand Coalition" of Kurt Kiesinger's Christian Democrats and Willy Brandt's Social Democrats, which put an end to any effective parliamentary opposition, nourishes the conviction among the young that there is nothing to hope for from conventional political action. Hence they call themselves the "extra-parliamentary opposition." They are determined to force the politicians to move on matters like educational reform or to bring about fundamental changes in the political system.

On the day I returned to New York, Columbia University was shut down. Shortly afterward the Sorbonne in Paris was closed.

Primary Is Secondary

By Arthur Hoppe
Chronicle Features

Kennedy's smashing victory in the historic Nebraska primary has raised a serious question in his opponents' minds:

"Now what a frenzied nation wants to know—after being driven to a fever pitch by historic primary after historic primary, historic week after historic week—is: 'What does it all mean?'"

To answer that question we have here today the noted primary analyst, Progly Grommet.

Q—Mr. Grommet, how did you analyze the Nebraska primary?

A—With glistening eyes, wetted lips and a throbbing pulse. Oh, there's nothing more exciting than analyzing primaries.

Q—Yes, but what did it prove?

A—It proved conclusively that Kennedy can beat McCarthy in Nebraska in the middle of May.

Q—Should McCarthy now withdraw?

A—Oh, no, remember New Hampshire.

Q—McCarthy won there?

A—No, he lost to Mr. Johnson and Mr. Johnson withdrew. However, he then beat Mr. Johnson in Wisconsin and although Kennedy beat McCarthy in Indiana, McCarthy beat everybody in Massachusetts, even though nobody ran against him.

Q—At least, then, McCarthy has the Massachusetts delegates in his pocket.

A—No, most of them are for Kennedy.

Q—Then who's ahead?

A—Hubert Humphrey. After seven historic primaries no other candidate but one can equal his record.

Q—Who's that?

A—Harold Stassen. But there's talk

Students are restless, to put it mildly, all over the world, and for many of the same reasons. West German students suffers from two peculiar frustrations. The first I have already mentioned: they find no outlet and no representation in the political system as it is now operating. The second is difficulty of conducting a public debate when 40 per cent of the newspaper circulation is in the hands of one man, Axel Springer.

Stassen may make a deal with Nixon.

Q—To withdraw?

A—No, to keep on running. But keep in mind that Reagan was "surprised and pleased" with his own showing in Nebraska.

Q—He won?

A—No, he lost. But many thoughtful Americans partly agreed with his reaction to the news.

Q—You mean they were surprised he lost?

A—No.

Q—But what about Rockefeller? Nixon beat him.

A—Yes, but Rockefeller wasn't on the ballot and he therefore couldn't be expected to beat Nixon—at least not the way he beat Nixon in Massachusetts, where he wasn't on the ballot either. But Nebraska showed Rockefeller to be tremendously effective.

Q—It did?

A—Certainly. He announced he was discouraging a write-in campaign. The results proved him tremendously effective at discouraging voters from voting for him.

A—And what lies ahead in Oregon and California?

A—Two more primaries, I'm delighted to say.

Q—Well, Mr. Grommet, for three months you've been carefully following the half-dozen candidates as they criss-crossed the country, shaking a million hands, making a thousand speeches, spending $10 million. By painstakingly analyzing their appeal to various ethnic groups, their poise on television, the size of their crowds, their vote-getting ability and their grasp of the issues in these trying times, can you now predict who will emerge victorious at the Miami and Chicago conventions?

A—Sure. The two guys a couple of thousand party hacks pick.

LBJ Requests More Military Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson asked Congress Tuesday for authority to spend an extra $3.9 billion on military operations, mainly in Vietnam.

Terming it an urgent request, Johnson said speedy approval is needed "so that we can meet our present military commitments effectively and without delay."

If Congress approves the long-anticipated money plea, actual defense outlays in the 1968 fiscal year that ends June 30 will hit $76.2 billion—up $2.5 billion from the January estimate. The rest of the request money will be spent later.

Defense outlays in the coming bookkeeping year are expected to approach $80 billion.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul Nitze told newsmen at the White House more money is needed primarily because of two developments that followed preparation of the January budget: the Communist Tet offensive in South Vietnam and seizure by North Korea of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo on Jan. 23.

Nitze said the great bulk of the $3.9 billion would be tagged for use in Vietnam. But $230 million would be earmarked for Korea and $300 million would go into an emergency fund to meet any unforeseen developments in Asia.

Johnson's plea for more defense funds served as a substitute for a more modest appeal he submitted in February. At that time he asked for $1.7 billion more for Vietnam but suggested the increase be offset by transferring funds from other Pentagon accounts.

Nitze conceded that about $1 billion of the anticipated offset has been erased since February, adding further to the need for more money.

Seek Censure Vote

Leftists Attacking DeGaulle Regime

PARIS (AP)—Left-wing deputies launched a determined attack Tuesday on President Charles de Gaulle's 10-year-long regime, seeking to capitalize politically on scholastic ferment and ever-spreading strikes that are costing France millions of dollars a day in lost production.

The French people have had enough of this regime of personal power," Waldeck Rochet, secretary-general of the French Communist party, told the National Assembly in debate on a motion of censure expected to reach a vote Wednesday night.

The president's position is not directly threatened, for his term runs until 1972, but passage of the motion would oust Premier Georges Pompidou and his Cabinet, the executors of De Gaulle's policies.

As if in preparation for the debate the Cabinet decided there would be no punishment for 44 students charged with violence in the street riots that led into the nation's strike crisis. Summoned by De Gaulle, the ministers approved an amnesty bill that will be submitted to Parliament Wednesday. Of the accused youths, 21 had been convicted and 23 were facing court action.

The Gaullist coalition has a narrow majority in the Assembly, and its leaders expressed confidence that it would survive the vote. Communists and the Federation of the Democratic and Socialist Left charged in the censure motion that the government had refused to deal effectively with demands of students, teachers, farmers and workers.

Political informants said De Gaulle was considering a move to enlist the backing of the French people for a wide reform of French political and social institutions. They reported he was thinking of consulting the nation, possibly as early as next month, by means of a referendum.

Israel Asked To Give Up Old Jerusalem

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United Nations Security Council urgently called on Israel Tuesday to rescind its annexation of Old Jerusalem. The United States and Canada abstained on the vote.

The Arab sector of the holy city and environs were seized from Jordan in the Arab-Israeli war of last June 5-10 by Israeli forces and later incorporated into Israel. Israel called the operation unification of Jerusalem.

The vote was 13 to 0 with two abstentions.

Before the 1967 conflict, Jerusalem was divided between Israel and Jordan as a consequence of the 1948 Israeli-Arab war from which Israel emerged as a nation. A 1947 U.N. resolution to internationalize Jerusalem never has been implemented.

The council nations voting to give Old Jerusalem back to Jordan were: Britain, France, Nationalist China, the Soviet Union, Denmark, Hungary, Brazil, Paraguay, Algeria, Ethiopia, Senegal, Pakistan and India.

42 F111 Jets Are Grounded

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has grounded 42 of its F111A fighter bombers for repair of a defective hydraulic valve, officials said today.

The planes had been restricted from operating since May 8 when one of the swing-jets crashed near Nellis Air Force Base, Nev.

The Air Force said preliminary analysis showed the defective valve, in a system concerned with the horizontal stabilizer, was "the most probable cause" of the Nevada accident.

Twelve early models of the F111—including one reconnaissance version and a strategic bomber version—did not contain the defective part and have not been grounded.

Prospect of Progress Noted at Talks

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman expressed hope Tuesday that something will come from a British-Soviet meeting in Moscow on Vietnam. Other Americans professed to see a faint prospect of progress in preliminary talks here, and perhaps their enlargement.

Harriman expressed his views after paying what he said was a courtesy call on President Charles de Gaulle. Later North Vietnam's chief negotiator, Xuan Thuy, met with De Gaulle. Both envoys reported cordial interviews with the president and Thuy said De Gaulle expressed the hope Paris peace talks would succeed.

As the Americans and North Vietnamese prepared for their fourth session at the French International Conference Center Wednesday a subtle change in the Hanoi delegation's phrasing held American interest.

Instead of saying the two sides could discuss "other matters of common interest" if the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam ended, the Hanoi delegation spokesman spelled out a possible "second stage" for these talks involving political settlement.

A U.S. spokesman quickly pointed out that should a political stage be reached, South Vietnam "would certainly be involved." The United States, he said, was not in a position alone "to reach a political settlement with Hanoi." He evidently meant any proposal of settlement would be rejected if it meant leaving the Saigon government out in the cold.

Should the "second stage" come to pass, it could mean a break in the logjam and enlargement of the conference.

While the basic positions of the two sides at least publicly remained unchanged, diplomatic activity radiating from these talks suggested an international eagerness to avert a breakdown.

There were hints that if the issue of U. S. bombing should be overcome, the conference might be widened to include such other interested nations as the Soviet Union, Britain, France, South Vietnam and perhaps some Asian nations, including Japan. Red China, dead set against peace in Vietnam, is not considered in a position to prevent such a development.

Council Approves Plans For Wastewater Plant

The Carbondale City Council approved Tuesday night the final preliminary recommendations for a new wastewater purification plant to be constructed on the City Farms Site in the eastern section of the city.

The council's approval gives the Clark-Dietz and Associates Consulting Engineers firm authorization to begin planning its work on the $3,610,000 project. A representative of the firm said that construction could begin by Sept. 1, 1968.

The council also approved a resolution pledging that the sum of all notes to the federal government for the Lincoln Neighborhood Urban Renewal housing project will not exceed the amount of $1,837,217 grant. A note to the federal government for $229,323, to be used for immediate planning and development on the project, was approved by the council.

No Black Students Have Quit School

for the protection of all members of the University community."

A Daily Egyptian reporter Tuesday attempted to talk with Daniel Thomas, who says he is spokesman for a group of black students, about both the petition and the threatened withdrawal of black students. Thomas, however, refused to speak to him.

Monday night Thomas asked the student Senate to request that the administration drop complaints against black students arrested for mob action in connection with the May 8 incident at President Morris' office. The Senate delayed action until tonight's regular meeting.

Thomas is acting as spokesman for black students who have threatened to withdraw from SIU unless the University meets their demand that all charges against the seven arrested students be dropped.

Karr Ordered to Show Minutes

Finney says he believes that several student organizations have not received travel funds allocated by the Senate to them because the minutes have not been approved.

The minutes are typed by secretaries and then edited by Karr. Miss Stearns takes notes at the Senate meetings and then transcribes them.

Finney said he believes Karr is going to "sit on" the minutes until the end of the term.

Miss Stearns said Karr has had typed transcripts of her notes of several Senate meetings, including the Feb. 14 meeting, in his desk for two months. She said they were missing as of Monday.

Paluch said he has photocopies of the original transcript of the Feb. 14 meeting. The transcript has many portions critical of Karr deleted, Paluch said.

Recommendations for appropriations of student activity fees for the next fiscal year will be presented to the Senate tonight. The Senate finance committee met Tuesday night to vote its recommendations.

One proposal the committee considered is the forming of a "Free University" of student-established courses, financed by activity fees.

The Senate will also consider the proposal made Monday by Daniel Thomas, who claims to be the leader of a group of black students.

SPORTS FANS!

KNOW

By Sidney N. Starr

A sportswriter in another city recently made an observation that's interesting to think about . . . He said that when the very first baseball rules were written, a civil engineer named Alexander Cartwright arbitrarily set the distance between the bases at 90 feet . . . Think how different baseball might be if Cartwright had selected, say, 85 or 95 feet between the bases . . . If it were only 85 feet between home plate and first base, think how many more men would be safe at first on in-field hits and how much more scoring there'd be in baseball . . . If it were 95 feet, think how many fewer hits and how much lower-scoring the game would be.

Can you guess which city in America has the most golf courses? . . . It's not New York or Los Angeles . . . Answer is Chicago . . . And the city that has the second-most is Pittsburgh.

Of all the men who have played golf, which one had the most perfect golf swing? . . . A survey was taken on that question recently, and the man getting the most votes was Sam Snead.

I bet you didn't know that college graduates have a longer life expectancy — lower death rate and are living five years longer on the average than non-college men. The lower death rate of college men makes possible broader benefits and greater cash values in College Life policies. This certainly makes good sense, doesn't it?

Services Scheduled For SIU Graduate

Funeral services are scheduled today in Du Quoin for First Lt. Barry Lynn Brown, 25, a 1965 SIU graduate. He was commissioned an officer here after completing the Air Force ROTC program.

Rites will be at 11 a.m. at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The body arrived in Du Quoin Monday and was taken to the Weinberg Funeral Home.

Brown, whose father, Robert H. Brown, is employed in the motor vehicle division at SIU, died May 5 in Vietnam of multiple injuries received in a crash of an aircraft over a target area. He was a co-pilot on the plane. His wife, Patricia, and two small children reside in Du Quoin.

Lt. Brown was commissioned at SIU March 20, 1965.

SIU Students Solicit Food for Marchers

Free School students enrolled in the social reality class are collecting food to be used at Resurrection City in Washington D.C. this summer.

The students have been standing in front of supermarkets the last two Saturdays asking shoppers to buy something extra and donate it when they come out of the stores.

Bill Kist, coordinator of the social reality class, said so far the students have collected over $350 in food. Next Saturday will be the last time the students will collect the food before sending it off to Washington, Kist said.

According to Kist, the most desired food items are baby foods, powdered milk, and dry cereals. Almost any non-perishable, canned or dry foods are welcomed.

Kist said the effort is only a part of the larger Carbondale Food Drive, directed by another SIU student, Steve Lewis. The Food Drive and the students' food collections are part of the Poor People's Campaign originally set up by the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Two citizens of Carbondale are presently representing Carbondale at Resurrection City. Mack Martin and Norvell Haynes have been in Washington for several weeks. Both are now marshalls for the Poor People's Campaign, Lewis said.

Lecture Scheduled Thursday On Designs of Lloyd Wright

An SIU design lecturer will give what he believes to be the first illustrated lecture on the architecture of Lloyd Wright, West Coast architect and son of the famous American architectural master, Frank Lloyd Wright.

Richard A. Helstern last December took three of his design students to Los Angeles to spend several days visiting with the younger Wright and inspecting and photographing more than a dozen buildings, mostly residential, which he designed.

Both exteriors and interiors were photographed in color to make up Helstern's slide series on "The Spatial Art of Lloyd Wright."

Helstern said his lecture will emphasize architecture as an art, a point of view he says is largely overlooked.

Open to the public without charge, the lecture will be given at 8 p.m. Thursday in Lawson Hall 161.

Students who accompanied Helstern to visit Wright were John Pohl of Joliet, Fred Werth of Lincoln and John Celuch of Wood River.

Dance Scheduled At Giant City Park

The Activities Programming Board will sponsor a dance Friday from 8:30 p.m. to midnight at Giant City State Park.

The Squires will play for the dance. Buses will leave the University Center at 8:15 and 8:30 p.m. and University Park at 8:15 p.m.

Agriculture School Sets Sports Event

The School of Agriculture will have its annual All-Ag Sports Day Sunday starting at 1 p.m. in Evergreen Park.

Student organizations teams will have preliminary elimination contests Saturday to select teams for the final competition in each category on Sunday. The winner in each category will then play Agriculture faculty teams for the championship in each class. The events will include: softball, volleyball, horseshoe pitching, and a tug-of-war.

A picnic meal is planned in the evening after the events are completed.

Godfrey Highlights Memorial Day Program

Arthur Godfrey, radio and TV celebrity, will highlight a Memorial Day observance as SIU and Carbondale will join this year in presenting a Memorial Day Program.

According to Rex Karnes, coordinator for SIU, Godfrey will speak at a 12:30 p.m. luncheon at the University Center. Tickets for the luncheon are three dollars.

Two performances of "Make Her Wilderness Like Eden," the official play of the Sesquicentennial, will be presented in the Communications Theater.

"Make Her Wilderness Like Eden" had its world premiere on Dec. 26 in Chicago and was written by Christian H. Moe, associate professor in the Department of Theater.

Paul Biggers, president of the Carbondale Memorial Day Association expressed the hope that the day will be a success and one of remembrance as well as celebration.

Biggers indicated that beginning at 9 a.m. there will be a parade through Carbondale and end at Woodlawn Cemetery. Here there will be an observance conducted by Rear Admiral J. W. Kelly, chief chaplain of the U.S. Navy.

The SIU concert band will be at the cemetery and will play selections for the observance, as well as the march through the city.

The Sesquicentennial, which runs from Dec. 4, 1967 to Dec. 3, 1968, has had other noted events in southern Illinois earlier this year.

On February 13 Shawneetown was the scene of a stamp festival. The small town had ceremonies celebrating the issuance of a special six-cent stamp honoring Illinois' 150 years of statehood.

Recognition Day Convo to Honor Activities

The Activities Recognition Day convocation will be changed this year to acquaint students more with the workings of the Student Activities Office.

Only one convocation program will be presented Thursday at 10 a.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Recognition of each outstanding student who has worked with activities during the year will be eliminated at this spring's convocation, but their names will be printed in a special program leaflet.

Gary Hartlieb, president of Activities Programming Board, will present the opening address. New members of the Sphinx Club, an activities recognition honorary, will be introduced by Richard Karr, student body vice president.

Another change in the usual procedures will be the recognition of various members of steering committees for special events during the year.

Chamber of Commerce to Help Youth Raise Conference Funds

The Chamber of Commerce has agreed to help a Carbondale Community High School youth group raise funds to support a meeting of the Carbondale Youth Conference. The Chamber is asking for contributions to raise the $300 needed for the conference.

The purpose of the conference is to allow Carbondale teenagers to discuss their own problems and work toward obtaining additional recreational facilities, improvement of existing facilities, and greater utilization of recreational facilities. This work will be done through a Teen Board.

The conference will be an all-day event, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. It will include a lunch and later an evening dance. The conference will be held at the Agriculture Building on June 1.

Richard W. Poston, resident professor, and graduate students of Community Development of SIU are guiding this conference.

Rhodes Scholarship Applicants Sought

Eligible SIU students interested in applying for a Rhodes Scholarship should contact G.C. Wiegand, professor of economics, in the General Classrooms and Office Building.

Any male student born after Oct. 1, 1944, and before Oct. 1, 1950, who is unmarried, has at least junior standing and is an American citizen may apply.

The scholarship would enable him to study for one year at Oxford University in England.

"While there are many scholarships, the Rhodes Scholarship is still the most prestigious," Wiegand said.

Weekend Flights Added To Ong's Air Schedule

Ong Airlines, at Southern Illinois Airport, has increased its scheduling service by adding weekend flights.

According to Scott D. Morrison, general traffic manager, regular scheduled flights will now be available to Chicago, Milwaukee, Springfield, and St. Louis on weekends. These flights are in addition to the weekday service which began operation in July of 1967.

3 Major Revisions to Affect 1968 College World Series

Three major changes in the format of the National Collegiate Baseball Championship, the College World Series, have been approved by the NCAA Executive Committee. The 1968 Series will be held in Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium, June 10-15.

In past years, the first-round pairings have been approved by lot, but under the new format advanced by the NCAA Baseball Rules and Tournament Committee, commencing with the 1968 tourney the first-round games have been established as in a double-round robin affair. Each district will play each other district twice over a 14-year period and will be designated home team seven times in that span.

As a result, the following pairings will open the 1968 tournament: District One vs. District Two, District Three vs. District Four, District Five vs. District Six and District Seven vs. District Eight.

SIU's baseball team is seeking a berth in the District Four tournament.

The second major change could result in an additional day of play. In previous years, four games were played each of the first two days which resulted in two teams being eliminated on the second day. Now winners' bracket evening doubleheaders will highlight the first three days with the losers playing a single game each afternoon. In effect, the first two rounds will take three days to complete instead of two as in the past.

Barring inclement weather, four teams will remain after Thursday's play. At this point, the final change becomes effective. The Games Committee will then adjust the pairings so that teams will not play each other a second time.

Also approved was a recommendation that whenever possible each team be designated home or visitor on an alternating basis.

Netmen Suffer Third Loss of Year Against Mississippi State Maroons

Undefeated and nationally-ranked Mississippi State handed SIU its third 5-4 loss this season during a tennis meet played last weekend at State College, Miss.

Earlier 5-4 losses were at the hands of Oklahoma City and the University of Illinois. The loss to Mississippi State dropped the Salukis' record to 16-3.

ster and Macky Dominguez was defeated for the first time in 13 appearances.

SIU was on top 4-2 following the singles competition but dropped all of its doubles, losing the meet.

Results of the meet:

Singles:

Gildermeister lost to Edmond (MS) 3-6, 6-4 and 3-6. Jose Villarete beat Cadwal-ler (MS), 7-5 and 6-4. Mike Sprenkelmeyer beat LeMarche (MS), 7-5 and 6-4.

Yang beat Grisilla (MS), 3-6, 6-1 and 6-4.

Jay Maggiore lost to Cameron (MS) 2-6, 7-5 and 8-10.

Doubles:

Sprenkelmeyer and Villarete lost to Edmond and LeMarche 4-6, 6-4 and 4-6.

Gildermeister and Dominguez lost to Grisilla and Cadwal-ler, 4-6 and 1-6. Yang and Maggiore lost to Thompson and Cameron 7-9 and 2-6.

Credited with only a .216 batting average for the early part of the campaign, Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals is trying to break out a hitting slump. He hit .299 as the Cards won the pennant in 1967.

Need Some Hits

Cards Add Practice As Hitting Slumps

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals were out Monday taking extra batting practice at Busch Stadium as Manager Red Schoendienst looked for the spark that could lift his defending world champions out of a four-game losing streak.

The Cardinals opened a 10-game home stand Monday night against Los Angeles after losing four of six games in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

"It's amazing we're still in first place," Schoendienst said before Monday night's game.

"When you realize that we scored only seven runs on that road trip...that speaks pretty well of the pitching."

Lou Brock, who brought a .216 batting average home from the trip, was taken out of the starting line-up Sunday by Schoendienst. But the skipper indicated he planned to have Brock back in the line-up Monday night.

"Brock's been taking extra batting practice," Schoendienst continued. "He's trying...but he's just not in the groove. He took so much hitting on the trip that he had blisters on his hands." Brock, along with first baseman Orlando Cepeda and catcher Tim McCarver were among the Cardinals getting their extra cuts at Monday's session.

Cepeda is hitting .233 and McCarver .232.

Curt Flood, at .350, is the only regular hitting above .300. Pitching has kept the Cardinals on top.

Among the starting pitchers, Bob Gibson, despite 3-3 record, has a .36 earned run average and has given up but 53 hits in 72 2/3 innings. The other three starting pitchers and their won-lost and ERA marks include: Steve Carlton 4-1, 2.57, Nelson Briles 5-3, 2.43 and Ray Washburn 3-2, 2.25.

Scholarship Program Disappoints Vogel

By Barb Leebens

Women's Gymnastic Coach Herb Vogel is in the minority when SIU coaches discuss their impressions of the Board of Trustees' recent decision to increase the availability of NCAA scholarships.

He's not at all satisfied. Vogel says that apparently no NCAA scholarships will be allotted to his team even though it has won five national titles in the past five years. Vogel feels his athletes are entitled to some form of financial aid.

Only three of the 10 women on his team presently receive any kind of aid. These three get physical education athletic scholarships which allow for $100 a quarter and are awarded on academic excellence.

Gymnasts must maintain a 3.0 grade point or the scholarship is withdrawn. Other gymnasts can be given only the promise of the opportunity of a campus job.

"Most people feel that women's gymnastics is below male athletics," Vogel said. "However, without some type of aid, the girls are forced to work, and how many people can afford to put in three hours a day at work, four hours of class, and then still be physically fit for three hours of practice?"

Vogel argues that a scholarship or some form of aid is not needed for recruiting of new gymnasts. He views the aid as a means to lessen the pressure so the gymnast can concentrate on her education, gymnastic competition and still have time to lead a normal social life.

Until recently NCAA scholarships had not been awarded to any women athletes. Two years ago the first NCAA scholarship was offered by Springfield College, Springfield, Mass., to Linda Methylene, now of Centenary College.

Southern's prestige in gymnastics is a big enough drawing point for recruiting, according to Vogel. Even in the past when no financial aid was offered, women athletes chose SIU because of its prestige in gymnastics competition.

"I'm happy with the present athletic program here at Southern. No one could ask for a better program or finer facilities," Vogel said. "To this I have no objections. I'm just interested in making the load a little easier for the girls."

Living expenses, traveling long distances, and time to study are among the main reasons Vogel feels his girls should be able to obtain more financial aid.

"Only one of the 10 girls on the team is from Illinois. The rest of them from from California, Florida, Canada, Mississippi and have even come from as far as Sweden. Because of the lack of money some of them can't go home during the year," Vogel said.

Because of the lack of financial support, the girls have to worry about working three hours a day, finding enough time to study, finding time to work out and still try to squeeze in some social life.

"The girls understand what they are getting into when they come. They are proud of what they do and the school they represent," Vogel said. "And to many of them it involves a lot of budgeting and a tight schedule."

Centenary College, a chief rival of SIU, is given 50 percent of its travel money and must earn the other half. Southern, on the other hand, is given substantial travel money, but no financial aid. "They don't feel that anyone owes them anything," Vogel said. "All they want is to be identified with the program here at SIU; it would make it all the easier for them with some financial support."

High School Coaches Back Expansion Plan

By Dave Palermo

Coaches and athletic directors from some of the top high schools in the state all feel that the athletic expansion program planned for SIU will greatly enhance recruiting in the future.

Centralia basketball coach Bob Jones calls the new program "really great" and adds that "it is high time they (SIU) went big time."

"In the past few years one of the main reasons Southern has not fared well in recruiting was their inability to offer the full ride NCAA scholarships," he said. "The work program type of scholarships is not that tough, but it's discouraging."

Basketball coach Walt Moore of Carbondale Central High School was also glad to hear of the expansion program.

"Obviously it will help as far as the total amount of boys they will get," said Moore. "They will be able to compete on the same scale of other colleges and will get a lot of boys they would have lost in the past."

Former Belleville coach

Gerald Turner, who coached ex-SIU cagers Jay Westcott and Roger Bechtold, said that although SIU coaches always followed efficient recruiting procedures, they've lost a great many good high school players because of a lack of full ride scholarships.

"It's essential to have adequate NCAA scholarships now," Turner concluded.

"You can't compete with other schools unless you have the necessary full ride scholarships," said Leo Samuelson, athletic director at Evanston High School. "Your facilities may have been better than the U. of I.'s, but Illinois got the top athletes because they offered the full ride."

East Moline athletic director Gene McCarter feels that the increase in NCAA scholarships and improved facilities will aid coaches in getting a few "late kids" still undecided about furthering their education.

Moore agreed with SIU Athletic Director Donald Boydston, who said he'd like to see the work program type of scholarship continued to some degree.

"I think the work program is a little more flexible and could help those who could not qualify for the NCAA scholarships," Moore said.

Most of those interviewed also felt the new football stadium would improve the calibre of football at Southern.

"I don't think SIU will have a real good football team until they get a stadium seating 30-40,000 fans," concluded Jones. "When they do, they could get the backing of the community and fans."

"A lot of students look at the facilities," said Moore. "The basketball program has always had the upper hand over football because of the Arena."

Turner, who follows athletics at Southern closely, summed up the belief of those interviewed when he said, "It's certainly a step in the right direction."

With the proposed 230 NCAA scholarships and the new facilities, prep coaches will think again about Southern, in the future when making their recommendations to high school athletes.
